Comments	<input type="text" value="The fields on the outskirts of Banbury are so important for the community, allowing vulnerable individuals in the supported living community to have a safe, outdoor public space. The fields are promoting biodiversity in the area, encouraging wildlife and plant diversity. The soil in the area is clay based which already does not have good drainage due to the number of houses popping up in the area, so further properties will increase the risk of flooding. Allowing building on this area will set the precedent that the local community should be accepting of a lower quality of life, just so companies can increase their profits."/>
