Comments	<input type="text" value="Hanwell is a pleasant village surrounded by green fields. The proposed development will destroy the feeling of living in a village and make it feel like a suburb of Banbury. The proposed huge development will inevitably be followed by other projects which will turn Hanwell into a suburb of Banbury. The people who live in Hanwell live there because they wanted to live in a village, surrounded by the green belt which the Council until now has said will be protected in perpetuity for the benefit of the inhabitants of Hanwell. If the Council breaks this promise it will never be trusted again. There are many areas on the edge of Banbury that can be developed without destroying villages, as has been achieved at the southern end of Southam Road. Please don't destroy our way of life.
