Comments	<input type="text" value="I write with full support of the planned construction of the stadium on the site known as The Triangle. The economic gain for the area from this will far outweigh any negative impact and the scaremongering by objectors is underhand and based on conjecture alone. Football fans would much rather travel to a destination by train and will make their base Oxford city centre rather than flooding the few venues in Kidlington. As an away supporter of a different league one team, getting to the Kassam by public transport is woeful. As for the traffic complaints, Football matches are held well outside of rush hour and are scheduled with plenty of notice so journey planning around those times and dates is easy"/>
