Comments	<input type="text" value="I grew up in Oxford & my father used to take me up the old Manor ground when I was a young teenager. The club has experienced many ups & downs over the years & now I am retired I continue to support the team both home & away. Oxford as a city certainly has a strong identity throughout the world as I have learned in my many travels. Whilst the university is justifiably the main feature internationally, it is the football club which connects most naturally with the local population. Indeed success in this area can only further enhance the city's sporting prowess & reputation. I drive to the Kassam stadium currently, but would seriously consider taking the train from Haddenham to Oxford Parkway in future. Improvements in local sporting facilities & an environmentally sustainable stadium must also surely count as positive attributes when considering this proposal. I strongly urge Cherwell DC to approve this application, otherwise the prospects for the proud tradition of professional football in our area look very bleak indeed."/>
