Comments	<input type="text" value="The stadium will be a major factor in helping to support the city of Oxford. It will not on bring together the community spirit, but provide ample opportunities for employment by supporting local businesses and enhance tourism in the city. By helping out the outer parts of Oxford will help the community in the poorer areas of the surrounding areas rather than just the central university area of the city centre.
Football is the spirit of this country, football creates togetherness, it doesn't matter the colour of your skin, your gender, your sexual preference as we get to enjoy the beautiful game in its original form. If OUFC can finally have a place it calls home, perhaps this could launch the club further in the league which in turn will only bring a fruitful partnership to the city. Look at Wrexham as a perfect example, this small former mining town is now at Hollywood status due to the investments made!"/>
