Comments	<input type="text" value="Oxford United is a critical component to the social fabric of Oxfordshire and the importance of safeguarding its future by means of creating/supporting a sustainable home should not be underestimated.

Planning considerations around new developments are understandably sensitive although every effort should be made across all stakeholders to ensure this project moves forward successfully.

It's appreciated not everyone is a football fan or more specifically an Oxford United fan however risk around the future home of the club spells major concerns around its viability with sadly more and more examples of other clubs failing across the country.

Having grown up in Oxford until adulthood and with parents still in Oxford I wholeheartedly support the club with their plans"/>
