Comments	<input type="text" value="I object to the proposal on the following grounds:
There will be a massive impact on nature. The site is home to the Brown Hairstreak butterfly, which has UK BAP status of a priority species. It is a Section 41 species of principal importance under the NERC Act in England. Habitat loss is a primary cause of species loss and the loss of this habitat would have profound consequences. In addition, there will be significant impact on the trees. No amount of planting can compensate for removal of established trees.
A secondary consideration is traffic congestion and highway safety. With all the good will in the world, people are not going to travel by public transport, and this will lead to enormous numbers of additional cars with the impact on safety and parking issues.
Finally, once the Green Belt is gone, it is gone and can never be reclaimed. A step of this magnitude should surely only be taken when all other options have been ruled out, and this decision appears to be being made with undue haste."/>
