I am writing to express our disappointment to hear that Dean•eld Homes are trying to scrap the allotments from their plans that were promised alongside their development in Sibford Ferris. It was the only positive thing that the village was going to get out of such a development and now they are trying to get away with scrapping their plans to create them. I've no doubt they've got their mind on yet more extortionate houses to be built in place of the allotments.

We have previously expressed an interest to Dean•eld about having an allotment and given the chance, we would certainly apply for one. We live in the village and have a young family who we would love to share the experience of growing fruit, veg and flowers with. These things have never been more important than now.

Regards,
Megan Gilkes
