Comments	<input type="text" value="I echo the multiple other public comments that the variation of the approved plan should not be permitted. The overall plan for the site including the allotments was what gained planning approval, presumably based on the balance of housing, parking and amenity space including the allotments meeting necessary requirements. Now the houses have been built, it seems cynical for the developer to seek to renege on the commitment, presumably in order to put in further plans to use the allotment space for parking but certainly not natural landscape.

The strength of feeling of those who have commented is clear, many of them being keen to secure one of the allotments which would be a great asset to the village and for which there is clearly sufficient demand.

I urge the planner to reject the application."/>
