

EN 14974 2006: Facilities for users of roller sports

This standard was introduced during the early part of 2007 and all inspections undertaken on Roller Sports facilities use this document as the reference point. Equipment installed prior to the introduction of the standards has not become dangerous overnight even though there may be certain EN14974 failings.

EN 15312 2007: Free access multi-sports equipment

This standard was introduced during the early part of 2007 and all inspections undertaken on Multi-Sports facilities use this document as the reference point. Equipment installed prior to the introduction of the standards has not become dangerous overnight even though there may be certain EN15312 failings.

GENERAL COMMENTS

Inspections are undertaken in a systematic manner commencing at the approach to the site, pathways leading from the road to the site, planting, seating etc. The perimeter fence to the site is inspected, where fitted, and all the access points are also checked. The general surface area, site furniture, seats and litterbins are also inspected.