Dear Mr Duxbury

I am considering buying The White Swan at Wiggington.
I will close the doors, remove the bar and use it as a domestic residence.
I will site a mobile home in the car-park and place scrap vehicles and shipping containers within the boundaries.
I will make other alterations as my fancy takes me, to include converting the outbuildings to a retail outlet.
Of course I will ignore any rulings from Planning Officers and Inspectors, as they will tire after ten years when I can sell the property as a residential dwelling.

Do I need Planning Permission to change the colour of the front door?

Yours sincerely

Bernard Blaze
