Comments	I have lived in Fulwell Close (from new) for 14 years. Over the years the traffic has got considerably busier, especially since the train station car park opened. Higham way, Merton Street is very often gridlocked especially during peak times. I work in Adderbury and have to allow half an hour for my journey due to the fact it is currently ridiculous getting onto the Middleton Road. I love living here as it is so handy with walking to town, getting the train, m40 access. The only disadvantage is the ongoing traffic situation. Traffic pressures have led to more dangerous local roads as some drivers try to cut through the estate to jump lights and avoid queues. Given the existing issues a second access is already required to alleviate this situation. Building more houses on the old Grundon site will increase the traffic situation unless there is another access point put in place. Thank you Nicola Gines
