Comments	<input type="text" value="Although the additional access to the site is a good edition I do not think the access to the new site can be serviced by Hobby Road which was not designed to service such a large estate. With two roads potentially providing access to 850 new homes assuming you half the the number of cars going to each access road that is still potentially 425 additional cars using Hobby Road, a Road designed to service just 50 houses at most."/>
