Comments	<input type="text" value="Objection due: to volume of traffic already making use of the existing roads on Longford park, and increase in this by adding 825 properties will make it dangerous, particular with the amount of children and pets already residing, in addition to the building vehicles and trades that would be passing on the roads. Additional noise pollution and disturbance that extra building works would emit to the existing community would be disruptive and further issues would arise, such as extra mud on the roads, building supplies (e.g screws and building paraphernalia causing injury and damage to property and cars) Banbury is already incredibly large with multiple building sites around the town, the existing road networks are already mirroring that of large cities as they cannot handle the through traffic as well as residential traffic. The promises of amenities on the existing Longford park, I.e shops, pubs, gp surgery, religious provisions etc have not been fulfilled, adding more properties and increasing the population would not aid this. Pollution to the already existing estate, this will make it worse. The schools and current local facilities cannot accommodate the current population, additional population would be neglectful and cause negative impacts upon living conditions and fulfilment."/>
