Comments	<input type="text" value="Since the development has been built at Longford Park, traffic has increased monumentally, leading to greater car emissions and noise pollution for residents all along the single lane Oxford Road. It is fine to build new houses, but it is obvious that the road infrastructure needs to be in place prior, to support the new housing. Longford Park and around 1,000 houses has already caused the Oxford Road to come to a standstill. What would be the effect of adding nearly another 1,000 houses (circa 1,5000+ additional cars) without any new road infrastructure? Yes, rhetorical."/>
