Comments	<input type="text" value="Road access from this new development into the existing Longford Park estate is just ridiculous! Longford Park is already congested with cars parked along the suggested access road of the new estate. Residents of the new estate would use Longford Park as a cut through to Bankside, thus avoiding the busy Oxford Road and adding to the already dangerous Longford Park Road where cars park along the road causing havoc because you can't see on coming cars. This route also takes drivers passed the primary school, which increases the danger for those attending the school. Longford Park's roads hasn't been adopted by the council & no road marking are in place & possibly not planned. There have been serveral accidents already and having access from the new estate through Longford Park will just increase all the existing problems."/>
